

LaFASA

Louisiana Foundation Against Sexual Assault

If you've been sexually assaulted, LaFASA's Legal Program can help.

LaFASA provides pro bono legal consultation and representation to sexual assault survivors statewide, covering a wide variety of legal matters.

Do you need immediate protection from the person who harmed you, whether they are a stranger, acquaintance, dating partner, or family member?

LaFASA can help procure an order of protection.

Do you find the criminal justice system intimidating or confusing?

LaFASA can help navigate the system and protect your constitutionally vested rights as a survivor.

Are you embroiled in a family law dispute in which you or your child has been sexually assaulted?

LaFASA can represent you and advocate for a just outcome.

If you've been assaulted on a school (high school, college, university) campus, LaFASA can help explain your options in that context.

Have you ever thought, "there ought to be a law" with respect to any experience relating to sexual assault?

LaFASA will listen and actually try to affect legislative change.

Please do not hesitate to call LaFASA for a consultation. We are happy to listen compassionately and provide honest, trauma-informed feedback regarding your legal options.

Reach out to LaFASA's helpline. Support specialists can give you resources, answer your questions or just be there for you.

"My friend said 'no' but it happened to her anyway. How can I support her?"

"I'm embarrassed it happened, and I don't want to tell anyone I know."

"Someone shared a picture of me that was supposed to be private."

"How do I know if I was assaulted?"

The helpline is confidential, anonymous, and free for anyone who has been sexually assaulted, experienced non-consensual sexual harm, or knows someone who has.
